TINY REVOLUTIONARY TEES

As much as we love our celebs, we're thinking that your little guy will make a much more powerful statement than the face-painted supermodel/actor/rap artist on those "I Am African" posters. When you purchase this graphic buttery-soft T-shirt from Tiny Revolutionary, $20 is donated directly to Africa Aid—enough money to pay for school lunches for a child in the Buduburam Refugee Settlement in Ghana for the entire year. Perhaps Richard Gere should consider squeezing into one of these ...

The Most Anticipated Season Premiere

MAD MEN

Retro never seemed so hip as in the Golden Globe-winning series set in the Golden Age of advertising (Madison Avenue in the 1960s), Mad Men. Cigarettes and scotch round out every meeting, and the secretaries are pleased to provide a range of services beyond dictation. Wake up and set the TiVo—season two of last year's sleeper hit is upon us. And there are definitely some unanswered questions from season one.

KIDMONDO

Between feedings and diaper changes, e-mailing weekly photos and recording the date and time of Junior's first belch is probably not a priority. But Kidmondo, an online baby journal and organizer, makes it easy to record milestones, upload images, keep medical records secure, and store information. Best of all, this is a simple (and safe) way to share your tot's achievements with friends and family. Just make sure Grandma knows how to get online.
